COST OF CITY GOVERNMENT

COUNCIL PREPARE ESTIMATE FOR COMING YEAR OVER $42,000 NEEDED.

Following is the estimate of the amounts needed by the various funds of the city government for the coming year as made by the city council last evening:

Contingent and supply,	$2,250;
Street and bridge,	1,500;
Lighting	3,500;
Water	8,000;
Sewer	250;
Salary	6,000;
Sinking Fund	4,250;
Interest	16,850.

Total $42,850.00.

This total is reduced to $37,600, however, by an estimated income of $3,000 from the water works, $2,000 from the salary fund, which will be taken in as fees, and $250 from the lighting fund, which will be paid by the Frisco railroad.

CONCERNING STATE TEACHERS' CERTIFICATE

Rules and regulations governing the issuance of state certificates were made Saturday by the state board of education. Four kinds of certificates are provided for by the new regulations: Kindergarten, primary, intermediate and grammar grade and general high school.

Kindergarten certificates authorize the holder to act as directress of any kindergarten in the state. Primary certificates authorize the holder to teach the primary branches, including the fourth grade. Intermediate certificates for teachers from the fifth to the eighth grades inclusive. General high school certificates license teachers to teach in any high school of the state. To be valid in cities the certificates must be registered by the city superintendent in addition to the requirements of the city school boards. For the rural schools the certificates must be registered by the county superintendent.

State certificates may be issued without examination to graduates of the state university, to graduates of state normal schools, graduates of the science department of the A. & M. school graduates of accredited colleges of the state and other states. All graduates must meet additional requirements before being granted a state certificate. Certificates to parties graduating not of the state are only temporary and after teaching one year if proper showing is made a regular state certificate will be issued.

Two Years Experience.

All applicants for state certificates except the normal schools and the A. & M. college must file recommendations showing that they have had two years successful experience. The law requires graduates of the State University to have sixteen months' teaching experience.

Applicants for state certificates must show proficiency by being examined in the following branches:

For kindergarten, drawing, history of education, history and civics of Oklahoma, hygiene, kindergarten and hand work, kindergarten program, music, nature study, origin and growth of kindergarten, physical training, psychology, school law and school management.

For primary certificate, agriculture, arithmetic, drawing domestic science, geography, history of education, history and civics of Oklahoma, hygiene, language, music, nature study, spelling, writing, physical training, primary methods, primary reading, school law, school management. Grades on kindergarten may be applied on the primary certificate.

For intermediate certificate, agriculture, elementary algebra, arithmetic, bookkeeping, civil government, composition, domestic science, drawing, English and American literature, grammar, geography, general history, history of education, United States history, history and civics of Oklahoma, music method, writing, physiology and spelling. Grades on primary state certificates are accepted and credits from the state normal schools on any branch accepted.

High School Certificates.

For the high school certificate, in addition to the branches for a primary certificate the following are added: High school algebra, botany, chemistry, geometry (plane and solid), English history, Latin or French or German philosophy of education, political economy and zoology. Grades on primary certificates are accepted. All grades are on a basis of 100 per cent, and the applicants must make an average of 90 per cent, with no grade below 70 per cent.

Holders of state certificates, intermediate and high school, may be granted certificates for special work provided such work and department are approved by the state board.

No certificate will be issued to a teacher unless a resident of Oklahoma or has contracted to teach in the state. Certificates are issued for two years, but may be extended five years without examination providing that the teacher furnishes the board with proof that he has taught continuously unless prevented on account of sickness, and that his work has been satisfactory. This proof is furnished by the city or county superintendent. A certificate will expire when the holder has been out of the work for two years and may be cancelled for unprofessional or immoral conduct or incompetency. Failure of the teacher to keep up the professional work will be considered sufficient cause to cancel a certificate.

Judge Says Recall

Is Unconstitutional

McAlester, Okla., July 4.—Judge Cole in the district court Monday granted an injunction restraining the McAlester city commissioners from calling an election as prayed for in a petition signed by 427 voters asking for the recall of Pete Hanratty, the first mayor under the commission form of government. The judge held that the recall provision of the charter is unconstitutional under the laws of Oklahoma, and the United States. This is the second petition recalling the mayor. Judge Cole enjoined the calling of former election and that case has been appealed to the supreme court.

ADA SEES QUIET FOURTH

LITTLE TO DISTINGUISH THE DAY FROM ANY OTHER.

The 'Glorious Fourth' passed very quietly in Ada. No fire works disturbed the peace of the nervous, and the main evidence that a holiday was on was the fact that the banks and postoffice did not open as usual this morning. A committee of merchants passed around a paper agreeing to close at 11 o'clock and all except two approached signed it and closed, for the day.

The drug stores were not asked to close, probably because of the fact that although a safe and sane Fourth was being observed, there might be some orators somewhere in the county whose jaws might be dislocated and need attending to.

IMPORTANT RULING

ON LIQUOR LAW

Oklahoma City, July 4.—The criminal courts of appeals Monday in a decision handed down by Special Judge Richardson in the cases decided, reversed and remands five cases of alleged violation of the liquor laws on constitutional grounds. The case of John Nowakowski, from the district court of Pottawatomie county, is the governing case and the others, being similar, are decided in the same way.

Nowakowski was convicted in the district court on indictments charging him with selling liquor to a minor. The prosecution was made under an act of the legislature following the creation of the constitutional provision on the subject. It is held by the criminal court of appeals that the legislature act which remits the fine which the constitution places on the offense and makes the term of imprisonment higher than the constitution provides is therefore, unconstitutional.

It is also held that the offense charged was a misdemeanor, and that the district court has no jurisdiction to try the case and neither could it transfer it to the county court, but that it should have dismissed the case.

The same ruling goes to the other four cases which are: Fred Wychoff, appealed from Okfuskee county district court; Ed Evans, from the Greer county district court; Grover Webster from the Greer county district court; Gus Walker from the Okfuskee county district court. The latter had been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

J. B. Gotcher Gets Jolt.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon J. B. Gotcher had a close call from being run over by a bus driven by a young man by the name of Littlefield. The street was crowded at the time and neither Mr. Gotcher nor the driver saw the other until the collision was imminent. Mr. Gotcher attempted to step out of the way, but was struck just behind the ear by a hame and knocked down. His head was gashed and his foot somewhat injured by the fall. The driver was put under bond to answer in the police court to a charge of reckless driving.

SOUTHERN EXHIBIT

IN WASHINGTON

Washington, July 4.—The Southern Commercial Congress announces that it is preparing to open in Washington, on October 1st, a permanent exhibit of Southern products, manufactures and resources. A floor space of 5500 square feet, in one great room, will be used in the new Southern Building. It will be accessible from 5th street and also from the corridors of the building and will be made one of the points of interest to be seen by all visitors to Washington.

The mural decorations will be used to emphasize the points of resource in which the South leads the nation—coast line, navigable streams—water powers—rainfall, wet lands, soils growing hours, forests, minerals. The sixteen columns of the great room will be used to emphasize the important features of one of the sixteen states embraced in the work of the Southern Commercial Congress.

The exhibit will be the main features of the South's coming greatness, while detailed information will be ready for those who wish to study any subject more deeply. Southern manufacturers and organizations working for community development, have unanimously hailed the idea as bringing the Southern Commercial Congress nearer to the realization of its slogan "For a Greater Nation through a Greater South."

YOUNG MAN WHO ATTEMPTED SUICIDE YESTERDAY WILL RECOVER.

Jno. Willis, the young man who attempted to commit suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor, is reported to be doing well today. While making some ugly gashes in the flesh of his neck, he did not sever any large blood vessels. He was found in a grove not far from his house about an hour after attempting his life, and had bled some but not enough to endanger his life. So far as known he has given no reason for his rash act.

CRUCE DECLINES OFFER OF CAPITOL COMPANY

Oklahoma City, July 4.—In a letter addressed to the State Capitol Building company Monday, Governor Lee Cruce declined to accept the proposition of the company that it turn over to the state the entire assets of the company, including 600 acres of land near the capitol site, from the sale of which the company expected to realize a million dollars. The proposition from the company was submitted to the chief executive last Saturday night, but its contents were not given out until Monday.

In the letter from the company to the governor it was stated that the company is unable to carry out its part of the contract with the state, for the following reasons: That because citizens of Guthrie had filed a motion for a rehearing of the supreme court, the company has been unable to secure donations and titles to all property that the company agreed to secure; also that it has been impossible to survey, plat, etc., the lands, because of the litigation pending; that the drought that has existed in the state since the execution of the contract has made the sale of lots an absolute physical impossibility.

Company's Offer.

The company submitted the following proposition to the governor as the representative of the state:

"The said company hereby tenders to you as governor its deed to the fifteen acres for a capitol site as provided in the contract. It also agrees to execute a deed to a site for an executive mansion, whenever same shall have been selected by the capitol commission or board of affairs. It also agrees to deliver to the state or any trustee designated by the state, a warranty deed to all of said lands, the same being 600 acres; and that said state from the proceeds thereof erect a state capitol building."

"In reply to the proposition, Governor Cruce says:

"I submitted to your company while the last legislature was in session, where in I proposed that if you would turn over to the state lands in question and pay the $100,000 bond that you were liable as I would recommend to the legislature that it accept this at your hands and relieve you from further liability and build its own capitol. My proposition was declined, and it was stated in declining it that the company proposed to carry out its part of the contract to the letter."

Power of Legislature.
"I will state that, however much personally I might desire to do so, yet as governor of Oklahoma I can make no change in this contract. I believe that the only power that can enter into a new obligation with you or relieve you from your present obligation is the legislature of this state; and it was made with this idea distinctly in view that I made the proposition to you that I did in February, while the legislature was yet in session, that it might act upon the proposed change in the contract.

"The only way your proposition could be considered and acted upon would be to call a special session of the legislature. This, I am certainly unwilling to do in view of the fact that the very matter that would be attempted to be corrected by the legislature could have been attended to as I sought to have attended to, at the recent session of the legislature. At this time, to call a special session of the legislature would cost the people thousands of dollars and probably result in no good either to the people or to your company."

"Whatever action is taken by the State Capitol Building company in regard to building of the capitol, will be determined at a meeting of its directors to be held at 10 o'clock this morning. Orin Ashton, secretary of the company, stated Monday night, that future plans of the company will be discussed at the meeting, and until that time the company officials will not issue any statement regarding the situation.

Yesterday the government thermometer registered 103 degrees. With one exception that is the highest point reached at Ada this season.

Bud Gregg returned this morning from a business trip to Shawnee.

Ardmore has another morning paper, the Morning Star. The new publication is under the proprietorship of Will C. Geers and the management of Frank Prouty. While it is a very credible paper, and speaks well for the enterprise of those behind it, the town of Ardmore is too small to support two good dailies, and unless the new company has a mint of money to carry their paper along until the town gains a few thousand in population, the Morning Star will not likely twinkle for a great while.

It is reported that following the example of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, Americans living in London are turning the cold shoulder to their fellow countrymen who happen to be on that side of the big pond occasionally. We suppose that Reid took his cue from the royal family, and his long residence abroad has imbued him with the spirit of European snobishness and caused him to feel a contempt for everything American. Reid made his millions out of the American people. It was good enough for him in the days of his struggle for success, but like most others, when prosperity came he was ashamed of those who made it possible, and now takes the lead in snubbing the people whom he is supposed to represent in England.

An English ambassador showing the same tendency would be recalled so quickly that it would make his head swim.

Sometimes it may appear to you readers that our editorial policy is a little too vigorous. They may think that hore questions should be handled with gloves. There is the other extreme, however, as illustrated by the following clipped from an exchange.

The editor of the Bungtown Daily Whizzer was seated on his tripod trying to write an editorial, filled with an airy nothing so as not to offend any of his readers, when a man in clerical garb came into the office.
He introduced himself as the sky-pilot who had come to town to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings. He said he intended to handle sin and sinners without gloves. He held in his hand a small manuscript and asked the editor if he would print it. The editor took the manuscript and read it carefully, and found it to be the Ten Commandments. He handed it back and said:
"Parson, I would like to accommodate you—but I don't do it. You see a great many readers of the Whizzer would take it as a personal thrust. Now, for instance, here is the third commandment; it is violated every day, and while I am by nature a pious man. I sometimes bend it myself. The fourth commandment is broken weekly, the fifth is strained, at least by a great many people. And the seventh, I shudder to think what might happen if I should print it. And so on to the end. In fact, I sometimes think that it might be better to repeal the Ten Commandments since they cannot be enforced. It is alright for you, parson, to preach along that line, but an editor can not be too careful as to what goes into his columns.—

HARD PRESSED BY CAVALRY

Plucky Running Fight Put Up by the Rear Guard of Gregg's Division at Dinwiddie C. H.

I first enlisted in Company D,
Eighteenth Pennsylvania, for three years.
We were with the Army of the Potomac in all its battles (except Chancellorsville and Gettysburg) to the Wilderness and Spotsylvania, writes James Haddon of Perryopolis, Pa., in the National Tribune. Our time having expired, we marched out of line, and were discharged in June, 1864. I then enlisted in Company G, Sixteenth Pennsylvania cavalry, for one year.

I was in Gregg's division, second brigade, and it was while with that command I had a close call in the fall of 1864. The cavalry was on the extreme left of the army at Petersburg.
Early one morning we started out on a raid around the right of Lee's army.
The Sixteenth Pennsylvania cavalry was in advance, and as there is always an advance guard in front of the moving column that duty fell to four men of my company, Henry Niel, William Hagan and, if I remember, Joe Neil and myself.

Nothing very exciting happened on our outward move. We reached Dinwiddie C. H. some time in the afternoon. We then wheeled to the right and moved up until we were in sight of the enemy's camps. We then wheeled right-about and started on our return.

Fitzhugh Lee was in command of Lee's cavalry, which consisted of seven brigades, and we knew he would follow us.

The guard had gotten a canteen full of apple jack, and they began to get pretty talkative. When the column started to move the rear guard stopped in the road and passed the canteen around. As I had not tampered with the contents of the canteen, I got hold of it and threw it over my shoulder.
I told the boys they had had enough for the present. I also remarked that we were two miles in rear of the column, and that Fitzhugh Lee's cavalry would jump onto us and give us a trip to Libbey prison if we didn't look sharp.

We then started to move. Hagan and I moved through a gate, and started to ride up to a house some 200 yards from the road, where we saw a mounted man sitting in front of the house. We hadn't gone more than half Gained on Us Very Rapidly.

way to the house when we heard a shot. Upon looking around we saw about fifty rebels coming out of a strip of woods not more than 200 yards in rear of us.

Nell fired all the loads out of his carbine and retreated down the road.
As Hagan and I were cut off from the road, we took to the fields for it. I didn't count the fences we went over, but there were several of them. The cavalry horses were trained to jump, and they went over like sheep. The Confederate cavalry horses being fresh from camp, gained on us very rapidly, and were soon riding along not more than 50 yards to the left of us. Both parties were firing, but as the horses were running at full speed the balls flew harmless with one exception.

I well remember the words of the captain as I took my position in the line. He said: "Haddon, where's Hagan?"
I answered: "The rebels got him."
I saw a tear in the captain's eye when I answered him. Hagan got back all right in about three or four months. Our brigade arrived at the junction two hours before Lee, and he had his wagon train in front of him.

We kept the train moving until about 200 wagons had passed. One of our scouts rode up and told us to cut the train, as a brigade of infantry and a brigade of cavalry were coming in sight. As we were the only troops that had reached the junction yet, we had a lively time of it for awhile. We formed a line of battle in single line, and fought mounted. We held them a short time until they began to move around our right flank. I began to think we were in a tight place when the old Fifth corps came up with a cheer, and that settled it. We got the wagon trail all right.

The GREATEST PLAY I EVER SAW

AS TOLD TO
Hugh S. Fullerton

By JOHN KLING.

Premier Catcher of America, and Who Is Regarded by Critics as the Greatest One the Game
Ever Has Known.

Mike Donlin, who was then with New York, made what I think was the greatest play I ever saw. He made it against the Cubs in 1908 in a game that seemed to decide the pennant race, and he beat us out of the game by it.

I have seen a lot of spectacular catches and throws, but that one beat anything I ever saw. I was of course anxious to win the game because we were battling for the pennant, and the Giants had a slight advantage over us.
They were leading us by one run in the eighth inning; we got two men on bases with only one out, and it looked as if we would grab the game right there. There was an immense crowd on the play grounds, but the field was clear except for a bunch of spectators who had come in at the corner on the right field foul line. They were piled in within a few feet of the line.

In that eighth inning the crowd was edging in closer to the line and a few were on fair ground strung along the high bleacher barrier. Tinker was at bat and he was hitting hard. He caught the ball squarely and drove it high down the foul line, not more than ten feet inside the boundary. It looked ten thousand to nothing that Donlin nor anyone else could reach the ball, and that it would go into the crowd and settle the game. Donlin came racing along the field, sprinting as hard as he could and straight at the bleachers and the crowd. The spectators began to separate a bit, and with a great burst of speed he tore right into them. His left hip and shoulder scraped the fence as he leaped, and he twisted and turned into the crowd as he caught the ball. The Chicago runners were of course on their ways to the plate as hard as they could run.

But after Donlin made his marvelous catch he made the part of the play that I believe was the greatest of all.
The runner who had been on second base had played the ball safely, taking just enough distance to enable him to score if Donlin lost the ball, or to get back if he caught it. The other runner already was across the plate, and had taken too many chances. As Donlin caught the ball he whirled into the crowd. It looked as if his play was to throw to second, a shorter and easier throw; but like a flash he saw that the runner could return to second while the other runner would have to hurry to get back to third. He sprang out of the crowd and shot to third base on the first bound and beat the runner by a few feet, saving the game for New York and almost giving the Giants the pennant.

Mineral Water in This Country.
The sales of mineral water in the United States during 1909, according to the United States geological survey, represented a value of $6,894,134, a slight increase over the figures of 1908. The quantity sold was 65,674,486 gallons and the average retail price was 11 cents a gallon. In addition to this quantity, over 6,000,000 gallons were estimated to have been used in the manufacture of soft drinks. The tables given in the report show a steady increase in the production of mineral waters for the last 25 years, the figures for 1885 being 1,312,845 gallons. The value of the imports of mineral water in 1909 was $1,085,177, with an average of 31 cents a gallon.

The Rarest Book.

The rarest of printed books is,
says a Paris contemporary, the Bible from the Gutenberg press, a copy of which was sold in 1884 for 80,000 francs, or $16,000, and another in 1897 for 100,000 francs, or $20,000. After these comes the Psalter of 1457, the first volume printed with a date. In the third rank, we learn, stand the History of Troye of 1469, the first work printed in English, and the Canterbury Tales, an edition of which not long ago was sold for $15,400. Six other works are extant which approach the Canterbury Tales in value.

There's Not a Store In Town

That Would, In Six

Be Half as Important
as it is Now, if it Should Stop Adver-

Isn't that perfectly true—perfectly logical?
Can you imagine any store of which it would not be true?

And, if true, does it not follow that the reverse of the proposition is true, too—that the store that doubles its accustomed advertising for the next six months will also double its accustomed store growth for that period?

And does not this, also, apply to any store you can think of in this town?

Sheriff Chains Drunks to Trees at Seminole.

Seminole, Okla., July 4.—A picnic in a grove a few miles northwest of this city had a dramatic ending Friday afternoon. The picnic had been going on for several days and great crowds had been enjoying themselves, to the extent of imbibing of the joy fluid until each wanted to fight the man nearest him.

The county sheriff went out single handed to pacify the riotous and at one time had fourteen men chained to trees until they were sober enough to go home. In an attempt to chain a husky to a tree the sheriff dislocated his shoulder.

A "splice" party had been arranged in which several couples were to plunge into matrimonial bliss at the same time. The merry mix-up of the rowdies and officers disconcerted the ceremonies which had to be put off until a future date.

A Progressive Enterprise.

Three years ago when B. H. Frick took charge of the Ada ice factory he found a pile of junk that was enough to drive a man crazy. Not only were there frequent breakdowns that caused great loss of time and expensive repairs, but the long wet spell caused the well from which the factory drew its water to cave in, and the season closed with the factory considerably in the red. The next season was some better, but still the breakdowns kept the manager on the run night and day. Last year found considerable improvement, and finally after there had been time to complete the work of overhauling the machinery and replacing a good part of it, the Ada ice factory is coming into its own. The capacity of the machine is supposed to be ten tons, but thanks to the work of Mr. Frick, it is now running without a hitch. The biggest part of this ice is shipped out of town, thereby bringing in a considerable sum of money to be turned loose right here at home.

W. J. Reed, the pioneer merchant of Ada, has decided to re-enter the business field here. He informs the News that he has rented the building just west of Smith's furniture store and expects to have in a part of his stock by the last of the week.

Rain at Stratford.

In a telephone conversation with T. J. Chambless this afternoon the News was informed that a forty minute rain, amounting to possibly a quarter of an inch, had fallen there, today, and that the clouds appeared heavier between Stratford and Center than at the first named place. It was still cloudy, and the prospect for more rain appeared good.

Danger in Cosmetic.
Zinc oxide, a favorite constituent of face powders and "bloom of beauty" is noted as a frequent cause for facial paralysis. A silver coin drawn across the cheek of women who use these chemical face powders will produce a deep, dark line, due to the reaction between the silver in the coin and the zinc oxide contained in the face powder.

Easing a Cough.
For children who have passed the baby stage, linseed tea is the best thing known to ease a cough. Pour two quarts of boiling water on one ounce of whole linseed and twelve drachms of licorice root sliced. Add to this a slice or two of lemon. Let this stand in a jug covered over for six or seven hours, then strain it and sweeten to taste and it will be ready for use.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age.
Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.
One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.
The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.
This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Blames the Romans.
A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was needless to say, a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of a fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance, at the home of the host, he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

Boy's Best Preceptor.
The finest moral preceptor a boy can have is his own father, when that father is worthy of the name, and only the very gravest reasons can justify sending a child from home before he has reached the age of at least fourteen years.

Man's Rights.
That man who has applied for a divorce because his wife kicks over the pail of hot water he uses when he is scrubbing the kitchen floor will have the sympathy of the public. She interferes unwarrantably with his rights as a husband and as a man.

No Place for Economy.
Don't economize in love. It's the one treasure that grows bigger the more you take from it, the one valuable thing in which it pays to be a spendthrift. Give it away, throw it away, splash it over, empty your pockets, and tomorrow you'll have more than ever.

Uplift in Russia.
Even the submerged Russians are lifting their heads to the better fruits of the industries of civilization. In fifteen years savings banks' holdings have risen from $235,000,000 to $650,000,000. Little by little, too, the Russian bonds, which had been sold abroad, are flowing back to the subjects of the czar.

Stung.
Signor Grasso, the Sicilian actor, was so carried away by the enthusiastic reception given to the performance of the third act of "Mallia" at the London Hippodrome, that he caught the actor who had played the part of his sturdy rival in that tragic episode round the neck with his left hand, grabbed his hair with his right hand, and kissed him.—London Daily Mail.

In the interest of a "sane" Fourth of July a Chicagoan has invented an instrument to produce noise by bursting paper between the mouth of a rubber bulb and a perforated handle.

A spring poet, whose specialty is cynicism, dashed off the following: "The man who is brave enough to desire to marry the modern girl needs no further test of his courage."

GEN. SHERIDAN'S WILD RIDE

Return Trip From Winchester to Cedar Creek Described by Veteran—Soldiers Asleep.

Gen. Philip Sheridan's famous ride from Winchester, Pa., to the battle line at Cedar Creek, Va., was not one of twenty miles, as the poet has it, but of seventeen and a fraction miles, according to Charles B. Thomas, 4226 Cottage Grove avenue, who followed the returning general along the valley pike for a distance of five miles. Mr. Thomas had enlisted in the Fifth New York cavalry and at the time of the ride was in one of the divisions under General Sheridan's command.
"I was at Newtown," he said in telling the story, "in company with a commissary sergeant. We had been ordered out on special duty, and we had been separated from the rest of the cavalry. The line of battle was at Cedar Creek, about five miles from Newtown. Winchester was farther along the pike in the other direction

a little less than eighteen miles from the line. It was at Winchester that General Sheridan, returning from Washington, learned that in his absence there had been an attack by the Confederates and that the battle was going on. It is not true that at Winchester he came upon men retreating from the battle ground. He met the first of them about eight miles farther on.

"It is not true, either, that the greater part of the soldiers had been routed. The Eighth corps had been surprised and fired out of their beds. They had had no chance to fight, and had retreated. They had been put out of service, and they got out of the way as fast as they could. Some of them were only half dressed. This was one corps. After they had fallen back, the Nineteenth corps had stopped the men and sent them back toward Cedar Creek, and they were doing this when General Sheridan passed along the pike. The Sixth corps held the line unshaken.

"The sergeant and I were grazing our horses in a side street of Newtown when we heard cheering in the distance toward Winchester. I told the sergeant that I was going to mount and go down to the pike and see what was happening, and just as I got there along came General Sheridan on his big black horse, Rienzi. There was one orderly riding behind him. He had outdistanced everybody else. We fell in behind and followed for five miles and were close behind when General Sheridan reached the line.

"All the way was along the pike I believe that General Sheridan says in his memoirs that he left the road before he reached Newtown and rode across country. I believe that in the excitement of the day he must have forgotten the way he really had come. If he left the pike he came back to it before he reached Newtown, because he was traveling the road in the center of town when he passed us. He did not ride over rail fences, as his stories say. By that time the rail fences had all been burned in campfires, and the only stone wall he had to pass had been breached for the passage of supply wagons. Straggling along the road behind him for miles were the men who had turned back to follow him as they saw him pass or who had been met by the soldiers of the Nineteenth corps.

"I remember the scene as we came up to the line of battle. The men were lying on their faces, most of them asleep. As we approached, one soldier rolled over and raised himself on his elbow. He saw the general, and he leaped to his feet and cried out: 'General Sheridan is here.' The men around him awoke and caught up the cry, and the cheering swept along the line, farther and farther away and growing fainter until it died in the distance."

A PASTOR UNIQUE

Speaks to Catholics, Freethinkers and Jews.

Pastor Russell Addresses Immense Audiences in London, Brooklyn and Elsewhere — Reaches Ten Million American Homes Through One Thousand Newspapers.

To hear Pastor Russell is the desire of many Catholics, Protestants and independent thinkers, who appreciate the published sermons of the celebrated editor, author and orator of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Pastor Russell usually speaks under the auspices of the unsectarian Bible classes of the large cities, in public places, where all may assemble on neutral ground, free from denominational prejudice, the pastor accepting only invitations where the seats are free and no collection to be taken, he in turn accepting no fee for his lectures.

Perhaps the most remarkable congregation on earth is that of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, over 20 nationalities being represented in its board of elders and deacons. Pastor Russell, when in America, orally serves his congregation on the first Sunday of each month. The Academy of Music, Brooklyn's largest auditorium, is now used on Pastor Russell's home days and is often insufficient to accommodate the ever-increasing crowd.

Pastor Russell, by his defense of the Bible as God's inspired revelation to man, has won the admiration of the vast majority of unprejudiced truth-seeking Bible students. He came into prominence in New England in 1877. Since then his field of activity has continually broadened, until now over 10,000,000 American families are served by the 1,000 newspapers now publishing his weekly sermons. He is the author of a work now in its fourth million.

Why He Became Independent.

He was reared under the strictest religious discipline as a Protestant. His instructors believed and taught the old style "Hell Fire" doctrine. To save his fellows from such a fate he went about his native city, inscribing upon walls and fences Bible texts calling sinners to repentance. During the next few years, while growing up into commercial life he devoted much time to the investigation of Buddhism, Confucianism and other oriental religions, to the end that they were found unworthy of credence. The thought, "Which is the true gospel?" became a living question in his inquiring mind, which continually reverted to the mixed condition and contrary claims of Christendom. He questioned, "Should I try to find the truth? Why not lay aside such arduous study and win fame and fortune in a most promising commercial life now well started?" This he was about to do, but decided that he would first investigate the Scriptures and let the Bible speak for itself on fire and brimstone.

Amazed at the harmonious testimony proving an unexpected but satisfactory answer, he continued a "topical" Bible research and was brought to a complete confidence in the Bible as being inspired by an all-wise, all-powerful, all-just and loving Creator, worthy to be adored and worshiped. This was a beginning of a new ambition, and the question then was, What should he do and how he should do it. Determining, if possible, to reach every truth-seeker, whether Catholic, Protestant, Jew or Free-thinker, he found it necessary to stand free of all sectarian bonds and to inaugurate an independent work. His first effort was the preparation of a booklet entitled, "Food for Thinking Christians"—1,400,000 copies being delivered to the public free of cost.

Interested in Jewish Hopes.

Pastor Russell early discovered that hundreds of texts relating to the promises of Israel were as yet unfulfilled, and he became intensely interested in the history of the Jews, past, present and future—but especially in their future. An extensive tour of the Holy Land was accomplished in 1892. The bud of the coming Jewish nation had scarcely put forth at that time. However, great strides toward a Jewish polity have since been accomplished, and Pastor Russell predicts that the budding of a Jewish springtime will soon be recorded in history.

He revisited Palestine last spring and addressed the Jews in the largest hall in Jerusalem from Isaiah xi, 1, 2. Upon his arrival home, Pastor Russell announced that his next topic at the Academy of Music would be "Jerusalem." So unusual, so strange, to see a Christian minister dilating upon Jewish hopes that all Jewry waited in expectation of something—they knew not what. So great was the interest on this occasion that hundreds of Jews, as well as hundreds of Gentiles, were unable to obtain admittance to hear the speaker. This discourse was published in 15 New York Jewish newspapers and by the Jewish press of many cities in Great Britain, Russia and America.

Last October he addressed a Jewish mass meeting in the New York Hippodrome on "Zionism in Prophecy," and has since addressed Jewish mass meetings in the London Royal Albert Hall and in Manchester, Glasgow and the Chicago Armory. Since returning from Europe he has spoken in many cities. Invitations accepted for 1911 will take him to the Pacific coast and two separate trips to Great Britain. By continuous labors Pastor Russell has fully earned the appellation, "America's Ubiquitous Preacher."

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison manifests itself in the most loathsome symptoms, such as ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, and even sores and ulcers on different portions of the body. The poison causes the hair to fall out, and sometimes the glandular system is attacked. No medicine can cure Contagious Blood Poison which does not rid the circulation of every particle of the insidious virus. The least taint left in the blood will break out afresh when treatment is left off. S.S.S. is the real and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison; it goes into the circulation, and by removing every particle of the poison, and adding, rich, healthy qualities to the blood, forever cures this powerful disorder. All who suffer with this disease may cure themselves in the privacy of their homes by using S.S.S. and following instructions contained in our Home Treatment Book, which we will send, together with any medical advice desired, free of charge. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.
